she finds the best stuff!

Our market director, Kate Doherty, just might be the best shopper you'll ever meet.

Everyone knows that half the fun of shopping is the hunt. Kate Doherty gets to browse through accessories and furniture all day long—and she scores! Over the years, these pages have featured close to 20,000 Kate finds, including things you probably never knew counted as decor. (Hot pink acrylic backgammon set, anyone?) Kate's fascination with shopping started early: As a child, she roamed antique fairs with her parents. Then she grew up and named her Instagram @kate_loves_stuff. This month she tracked down outdoor items so stylish, they turn takeout and beers on the deck into fine dining. Kate, we'll be toasting you from our new rainbow-striped cord chairs. - Ellen Seidman, executive editor

PERFECT MATTRESS

You spend one-third of your life in bed, why not make it wonderful?

MAKE IT PERSONAL

Scale the size to your space and match the firmness to your sleep style. Map out your bedroom to determine whether a king or a queen would be the best fit. If you sleep with a partner (or pets!), it may be worth sizing up. Find the right feel—Firm, Plush, or Ultra Plush—based on your usual sleep position.

THINK LONG TERM

A high-quality mattress should last up to 10 years, so invest in comfort, durability, and support. Research how it's made—the materials used for the interior and the exterior can have a major impact on comfort and durability over time.

TRUST THE LEGACY

Seek out a brand with a proven track record. Stearns & Foster mattresses are crafted by hand, not massproduced. So much care is put into them that each mattress is hand-signed by the Master Craftsman who built it.

ELEVATE YOUR COMFORT

We're spending more time in our bedrooms than ever before—from working to reading to bingeing the latest series. Adding an adjustable base to your mattress can optimize comfort, making your bed a life hub by day and a sleep sanctuary by night.

A Legacy of Design in Every Stitch

At Stearns & Foster, we believe that exceptional design lives in the details. This is why we have spent more than 175 years committed to refining the details that make Stearns & Foster distinct. From velvet trim to hand-tufted top layers, our mattresses are meticulously crafted to look as good as they feel. Use our tips to help you choose the perfect mattress to complete your bedroom sanctuary.

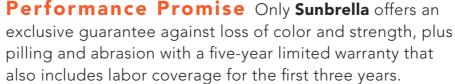

Sublime Summer Spaces

FOR EVERYDAY ENJOYMENT & STYLISH ENTERTAINING

When the warm weather beckons, it's hard to resist spending more time outside. And a well-appointed patio or deck extends your living and entertaining space so you can enjoy the comforts of home and the company of family and friends, all while spending time in the fresh air. To make your outdoor seating areas more inviting, add comfortable, colorful cushions and pillows from The Company Store.

Made with Sunbrella performance fabrics, cushions and pillows help create a beautiful, long-lasting custom retreat just outside your back door.

Mix high and low

Shelly Dozier-McKee (@confettistyle) stacked melamine plates from HomeGoods on heirloom wedding china and chargers she found at estate sales. Then she kept with the theme by placing patterned paper napkins over solid cloth ones. The runner is just a piece of fabric folded under.

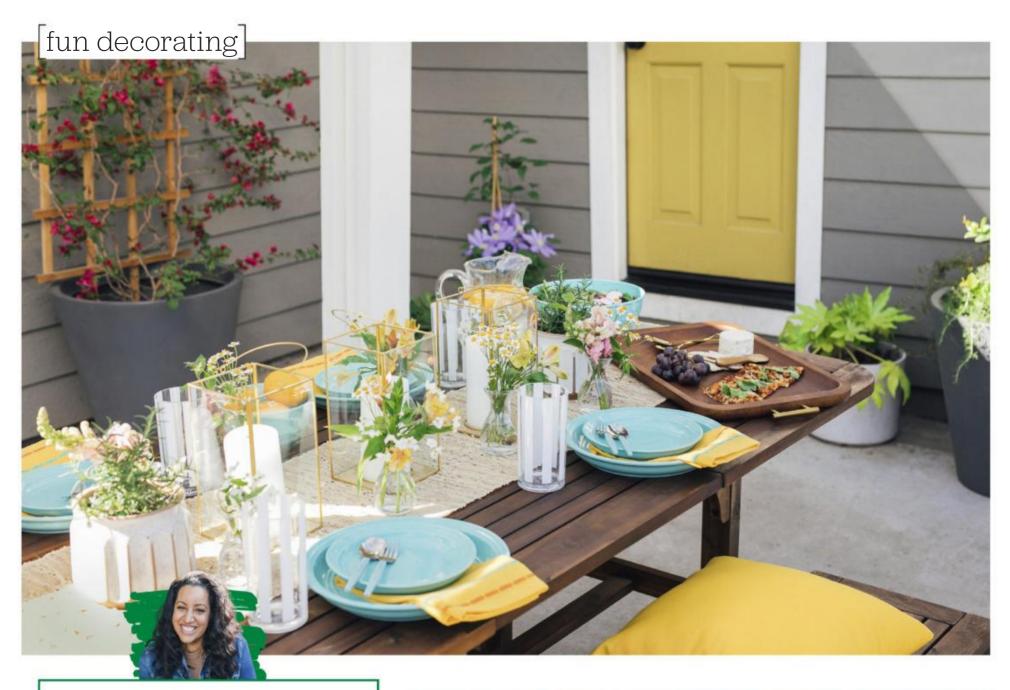

Get personal

You can elevate any meal by giving guests their own little cast-iron pots. "Even baked beans feel fancy in mini Dutch ovens," says Elizabeth Van Lierde (@college_housewife). Try varying other elements, too: She served corn muffins on a pizza peel and used beer bottles as vases

Add fresh herbs

Katrina Blair Sullivan (@thekatrinablair) dotted a natural runner with mini vases full of cheerful chamomile flowers and alstroemeria, then put pots of rosemary at each end of the table. "They smelled incredible!" she says. Glass lanterns from Walmart give the setting an elegant touch.

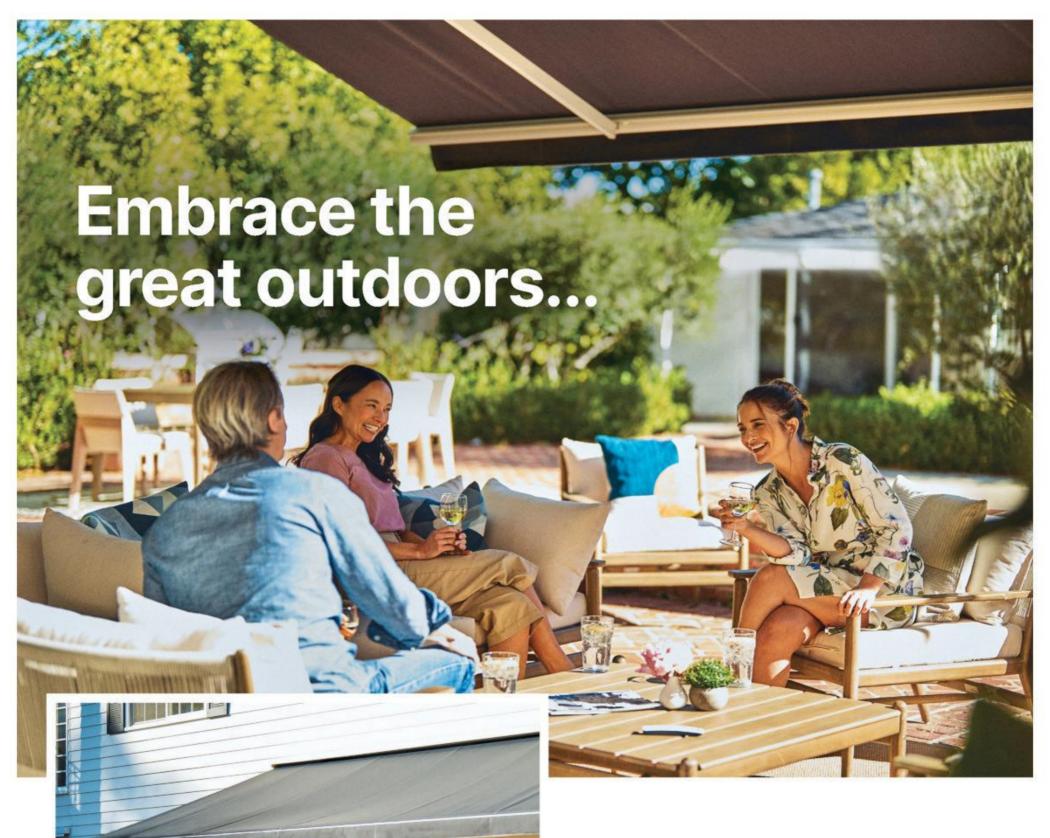

Set out some succulents

"They last way longer than flowers do," says Jenni Yolo (@ispydiy). She bought terracotta pots in different sizes, spray-painted them Satin Pink Taffeta by Krylon, then filled them with a variety of plants. When the party was over, everyone took one home!

now back is it?

Questions that stump us all, answered at last!

NOT SO BAD!

KINDA BAD!

PRETTY BAD!

REALLY BAD! SUPER BAD!

how bad is it if your dog gets yard time but not so many walks?

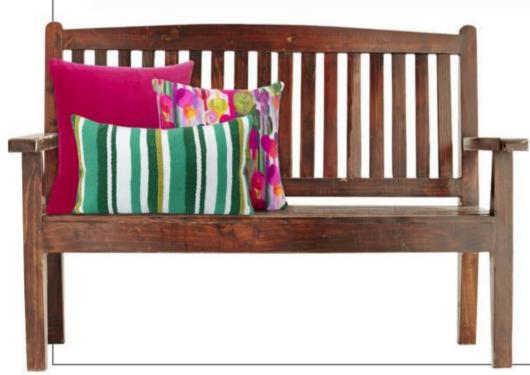

Dogs need excursions for the sensory experience. "They explore the world through their noses—a walk is like a 'sniffari'— and they don't get enough stimulation roaming around their everyday digs," says Fanna Easter, chair of The Association of Professional Dog Trainers. Take a daily walk if possible, and change the route periodically.

If your efforts to drink plain old H₂O fall flat, no worries. "Just like water, sparkling hydrates, typically with zero calories," says nutritionist Keri Gans, RDN, author of The Small Change Diet. Heard that the acid in seltzer can erode tooth enamel? The effect on teeth is thought to be minimal.

how bad is it to leave outdoor pillows out all the time?

"The only thing you should be ferrying in and out is a frosty beverage," says our market director, Kate Doherty. Outdoor pillows are made to withstand moisture from rain, and the filling is resistant to mold. The colors might fade over time, but as Kate points out, that can be a good excuse to upgrade: "You may want a whole other look!"

ONOT BAD AT ALL!

how bad is it to let mail pile up when you're on vacation?

"Thieves look for crimes of opportunity, and a stack of mail could signal an empty home," says Robert Siciliano, home security expert for porch.com. Mail theft is a concern, too, and someone could find personal information to use for identity fraud. Put your mail on hold for upcoming trips—you can save time by filling out the form at usps.com.

how bad is it to claim a spot at the pool with a towel?

Coming back within an hour is fine if it's not too busy, says Thomas P. Farley, an etiquette maven in New York City. Think: a weekday morning at the community pool. During crowded times like weekends or holidays, or when a hotel is full, aim to return within half an hour. "Getting lunch is acceptable; playing a tennis match isn't," says Farley. And do you really want someone touching and moving your towel? Exactly.

ONOT BAD-WITHIN REASON!

how bad is it

to leave sunscreen in the car?

Sunscreens can't take the heat. "High temperatures can break down ingredients that shield skin from harmful rays, making them ineffective," says Henry W. Lim, MD, a dermatologist in Detroit, Michigan, who reviews formulas for The Skin Cancer Foundation. Sprays, sticks, and lotions are all susceptible. Better to be safe than sunburned and move the bottle to your handbag.

OREALLY BAD!

how bad is it to sneak kids onto rides when they're too short?

Safety experts are not on board with this. Half an inch might seem like nothing, but the difference could mean a loose restraint. This can lead to head and neck injuries when kids are bounced around, according to the Center for Injury Research and Policy at Nationwide Children's Hospital in Columbus, Ohio. To avoid a meltdown at the Whip-N-Whirl, check height rules in advance.

MADE WITH REAL FARM-RAISED CHICKEN

we bought a house ONLINE!

These homeowners made the ultimate purchase without seeing it in person. Could you do the same?

his past spring, a good 10% of all home buyers in America sealed the deal on their houses without so much as a walkthrough. The trend started as a pandemic necessity because open houses were out of the question, but it seems to be here to stay. "More and more people are relying on virtual tours with agents in today's evercompetitive market," says Jessica Lautz, Ph.D., vice president of demographics and behavioral insights for the National Association of Realtors. Without enough homes for sale to meet the ongoing demand, buyers have to act quickly. And tech tools have made it possible to get mortgages, sign documents, and carry out closings online. If you're thinking of clicking "add to cart" when you see your dream house, read on: Six families share some helpful tips.

Matthew and Kristy Green with Lela, 3, and Emmit, 6, moved from San Francisco, CA, to East Grand Rapids, MI.

BEST ADVICE: Find an agent who will really work for you

"We wanted to know specifics about houses, and our agent went the extra mile to make sure we did. During video tours, she'd prop up her phone and stretch out her arms to show us how big something was, then take out her measuring tape so we could gauge furniture placement. Once, she showed us the scale of a kitchen by lying on the floor. She did five or six video calls with us at the property we bought to help us get to know every square foot of it—closets, nooks, behind the garage. Because of her, we said 'Let's do it!' without hesitation." —Kristy Green

BEST ADVICE:

Enlist local helpers

"We didn't have friends in Indiana to check out homes there when we had to move for Barrett's job, but my parents live two hours away and volunteered to go to showings. Afterward, they'd share their true insights when the agent wasn't around—like that it was too small, needed work, or had a weird smell! When they walked into the house we bought, they knew it was the one. Before he left, my dad had picked out where he'd sit for a cigar; meanwhile, we still needed details on the septic system." -Jessi Way

BEST ADVICE:

Invest in a topnotch inspector

"When you're not there in person, it's worth every cent to get a thorough inspection. Our trusted agent referred us to a veteran inspector who FaceTimed us as he went through the home, explaining the condition of everything and details like the HVAC setup. Luckily, he didn't spot too much other than a screenless window and caulk missing from window casings. We got a detailed report and still haven't encountered any surprises." -Katie Gomes

Katie and Nick Gomes with Nate, 1, moved from Jersey City, NJ, to Nashville, TN.

VEDY OF GOOD GOLLY PHOTOGRAPHY to Centennial, CO.

Michelle Betts with Dylan, 12, Lauren, 18, and Sienna, 15, moved from Spain

BEST ADVICE: LOOK beyond dated decor

"The house I was considering had that typical '80s medium-brown oak trim and kitchen cabinets, along with white carpet, even in the bathrooms. But when I really studied the photos and videos, I could tell that the home's bones and the space were great. I loved the vaulted ceilings and huge windows in the living room, and the finished basement. The photos didn't capture how beautiful the backyard is-and we have a pool!" —Michelle Betts

Stephanie Lewis

Stephanie Lewis and Erin Havel with August, 5, moved from Seattle, WA, to Palm Springs, CA.

BEST ADVICE: Know what you want—and be prepared to pounce

"Having a clear vision of what you're looking for in a home makes it easier to act fast. We made a list of our nonnegotiables: newer construction, updated roof, solar panels, good neighborhood, and a solid school system. This way we weren't wasting anyone's time, especially since we didn't have any to spare. I was starting a new job whether we found a place to live or not! We had preapproval for a mortgage before we did any virtual tours. We talked to a bank about our financing options, and the mortgage broker connected us with a good agent. When we got a gut feeling about one of our top choices, we knew exactly how much we could offer and we went for it. We now have a beautiful home and a fun story to tell." —Stephanie Lewis

Todd and Thayer Orelli with Sadie, 8, and Siena, 11, moved from Brooklyn to Centerport, NY.

BEST ADVICE: Take a virtual tour of the neighborhood

"Our bungalow was listed on Craigslist, without an address or pictures, just a map of the area. There was an offer on the table, so we had to hustle. Todd used Street View on Google Maps to 'walk' around, get a sense of the other houses, and see how close the neighborhood was to the beach. I jumped on the local Facebook page to make sure the people seemed friendly, and we made an offer within 24 hours. The house turned out to be a hoarder disaster, with takeout food containers and piles of newspapers everywhere. But you can always change a house, just not the location. We are part of the best community—summer bonfires, camp for our girls, and we even do the New Year's Day Polar Plunge!"—Thayer Orelli hen Kara Cronk set out to make a new home for her kids after separating from her husband, she got lucky with an airy 1,300-square-foot house in the San Francisco, CA, neighborhood where they already lived. "The stuff I bought faced two tests," says Kara. "Do I love it, and would it make me and the kids happy?" The answers were "yes" and "yes" when she saw a Thos. Moser trestle dining table, extendable to 120 inches. She pictured it as a place for post-soccer pizzas, birthday celebrations, and weekend breakfasts with waffles made from scratch. "I knew it would be the cornerstone of our home," says Kara. Next, with help from designer Emilie Munroe, she tackled some smallish reno projects, including removing a fireplace in the living room to create more hangout space and turning an unfinished attic into a playroom. They blended colors, patterns, and art, embracing a fresh start...and any shade of pink Kara wanted.

ature buffs Emily Johnson and Rahul Jampala were thrilled to find a home in a woodsy setting—but they were not so thrilled when they saw that their McLean, VA, place had a tiny 165-square-foot kitchen. He likes experimenting with savory dishes, she likes baking her great-grandma's Swedish treats, and they wanted to be able to spread out. Partnering with designer Tanya Smith-Shiflett, they doubled the room's size by expanding into a little-used dining room. They installed new cabinets and an island with plenty of storage, and chose design elements that reflect their surroundings. "The rustic look makes our kitchen ultra-usable," says Emily. "We can beat it up a bit without hurting anything!"

apricot-glazed grilled chicken and corn

- 1/4 cup apricot jam
- ½ tablespoon fresh lime juice
- teaspoon hot sauce
- 1/8 teaspoon red pepper flakes
- chicken legs, split (4 thighs and 4 drumsticks)

Kosher salt and black pepper

- 4 ears corn, shucked and each cut into 3 pieces
- Lime wedges, for serving
- 1. Heat grill to medium. In a small bowl, combine jam, lime juice, hot sauce, and red pepper.
- 2. Season chicken with ½ teaspoon black pepper. Grill with the cover closed, turning occasionally, for 20 minutes. Uncover and keep grilling, basting with sauce until chicken is cooked through, 5 to 7 minutes more.
- 3. Meanwhile, bring a large pot of water to a boil. Add corn to pot with 2 teaspoons salt and simmer until just tender, 3 to 4 minutes. Drain, transfer to platter, and serve with chicken and lime wedges.

The front got a redo, too!

Steve and Meghan preserved the cottage look of the house so it would fit in with others in the neighborhood, but they updated the siding to board and batten and added a sleek metal portico. The fab new door, painted Hep Green by Sherwin-Williams, complements the landscaping.

- duo that never goes out of style. Homeowners Nancy and Steve Mitchell have kept the same palette since they moved into the brick cottage more than 40 years ago.
- A LITTLE PORCH with terracotta tile is a perfect place to sit. "It's where we watch rainstorms sweep through," says Nancy.
- central touches including the casing around the door, an ornate pediment, and a pair of tall black urns exude elegance.
- THE BAY WINDOW adds dimension to the front of the house—and extra space inside. Says Nancy, "We get a flood of wonderful light in the living room."

the story of pineapples

After European travelers spotted the fruit hanging outside Caribbean houses in the late 17th century, it went on to become a worldwide symbol of welcoming. These days, you can ramp up your curb appeal with pineapples in all forms: garden statues, lanterns, door knockers, even string lights.

- of this Craftsman immediately drew in homeowners Kay and Bobby Hassett. "They're a rare find in the neighborhood—they make our house unique," says Kay.
- MATCHING GABLES create eye-pleasing balance, as do the three arches on the left opposite the three windows on the right.
- CLAPBOARD SIDING painted a bright cream color stands out against the brick at the base of the house. Back in the day, home builders used brick for foundation walls.
- was one of Kay's top priorities. She planted taller greenery— the tea olive shrub between the windows and star jasmine vine on the left—behind lowerlying plants and flowers.

- is kind of famous in the neighborhood, say homeowners David and Elizabeth Brewer. "We've run into people who were interested in buying the house for that alone," says David.
- TUDOR FEATURES such as half-timbering, multipane windows, and tall peaks along the roofline started appearing in American houses in the late 1800s; the style originated in England in the late 15th century.
- THE OAK FRONT DOOR, with charming strap hinges and leaded glass, is as old as the home itself.
- THAT VIBRANT LAWN wasn't always so green. David and Elizabeth run the mower over the St. Augustine grass every weekend from fall to spring to pick up oak leaves in preparation for summer. "It's worth the work to get the lush, carpet-like texture," says David.

- AN EXTRA-WIDE PORCH serves as an outdoor living room for Brandy and Robert Price. It was falling apart when they purchased the house, so they rebuilt the floor with tongue-andgroove pine.
- THOSE TAPERED COLUMNS are made out of long-lasting composite, and the couple installed a fresh oak railing to match. "It's our boys' chore to wipe it down when it's dirty!" Brandy says.
- A NEW DOOR looks original to the house. The couple worked with a local mill to craft one that captures the home's folk Victorian style.
- 110-YEAR-OLD WINDOWS open and close now that the Prices have repaired them. The local historic committee said no to new replacements, which turned out to be a good thing: "The diamond molding and wavy glass have become two of our favorite features," says Brandy.

buck foliage. In summer, they do best with daily watering and misting.

what's with the pine straw?

It's the preferred ground covering in the South because it keeps plant roots cool in the heat and warm in the cold. Unlike wood chips, which are common in the Northeast and easily wash away, the straw locks together and stays put.

Your backyard could become the hangout of the season. Take a cue from these decked-out spaces.

The only thing better than a porch swing is one that's practically a bed. When it's 38 inches deep like this one in Dover Plains, NY, there's room to sprawl out with a book—or kick back with the kids.

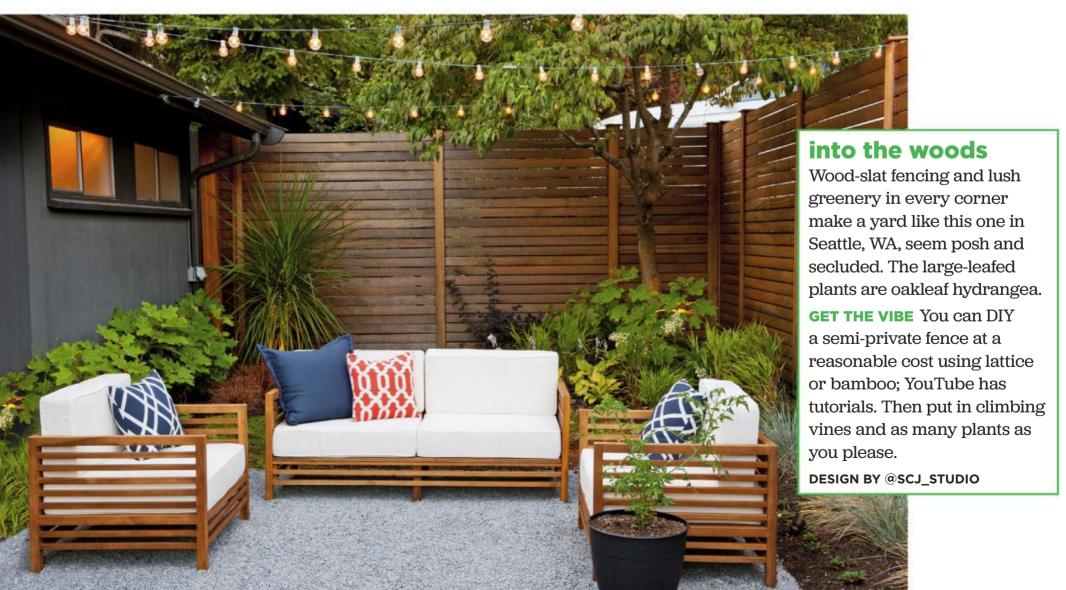

GET THE VIBE The swing is from ThePorchSwing Company.com. Bolsters offer cushioning on all sides; these are upholstered in striped fabric by Holly Hunt.
